The recent ukase of the Czar, prohibiting the export of wheat from Russia, is simply the official recognition of the well known fact that Russia has no surplus wheat for export. The export of wheat from Russia so far this season amounts to only 30,000,000 bushels, and from official reports it appears that before next season's crop is harvested considerable food stuffs will require to be imported to keep the people from starving. The United States and Canada will have 275,000,000 bushels for export, but this amount will be entirely absorbed by the regular importing customers of Europe, now that the Russian supply is cut off. Under the circumstances we believe there is good ground for the belief that prices will advance as spring approaches.

Last Saturday there passed through Moose Jaw, on the regular express, three cars filled with British marines returning to England from India.
The passengers will be rushed through to Halifax, from which port they will take a steamship across the Atlantic to Liverpool. This trip is an experiment by the British Military authorities to discover how rapidly troops can be conveyed from England to India by the Canadian Pacific route.
The result of the experiment will be of interest not only to Great Britain but to all the other great powers of Europe.
India is England's most vulnerable point, and in case of war even a few days delay of this in the transport of troops is a very important matter.
The world gridding empire must be prepared for any emergency and every year Canada's position, as the great American highway between the east and the west is becoming more and more recognized and appreciated.

Our self-satisfied, disinterested public spirited town councillors, at their meeting last Monday night, voted themselves the magnificent salary of $12 each, for services rendered during the year. Twelve dollars in cash and the balance in honor, is what these gentlemen estimate their year's work to be worth, but as the honor does not seem to count for much nowadays, it may be inferred that each councillor, Mr. Herrier included, considered he had done twelve dollars' worth of service for the town. Now that a salary is attached to the "job", no doubt the number of applicants will be increased.
Some persons may ask, what extra work has the council of 1891 done more than its predecessors? In reply to the above, we can point to the nice machine safely stored away from earth, air, fire and water, beside the Bradshaw block, the machine without a name or use; to the splendid town hall and magnificent bridge, not built; to the town pump, frozen up; the culverts and the street crossings, that won't let water through; to the town treasury, that has "nothing in it"; to the sidewalk on Manitoba street, that is there, and the sidewalk on the south side of High street that isn't there.

Oh, yes! they were certainly entitled to the salary.

The town of Lethbridge had a $50, 000 fire on Tuesday night. The circumstances are similar to those of most fires in other small towns. A small beginning of dry material, high wind, insufficient fire protection, loss of property. Last August Lethbridge council purchased a chemical engine similar to that of Moose Jaw, but it was of little service in fighting the flames. The experience of Lethbridge may be the experience of Moose Jaw at any time. We are absolutely without any system of fire protection. We have no organized fire brigade, and even were the chemical engine any good, half the town would be burned down before it could be put in operation. We believe that even the chemical engine might be made to do good work in case of a fire, if we had an organized well drilled fire brigade.
The apathy of the town council and citizens of our town in this matter is criminal, and some night they may waken up to see the result of their negligence.

The scheme for the union of three Maritime Provinces, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island under one provincial government is again under discussion. The feeling of the people most directly interested is one of indifference to the union.
They appear, from the expressions of their representative men to be quite contented with their present condition.
There is no doubt but that the legislative union of these small provinces will be mutually advantageous in reducing the cost of government, and permitting the expenditure of more money for local improvements. Geographically the provinces are almost united, and single, they are in size out of proportion to the other provinces of the Dominion. The little province of Prince Edward Island, with only three small counties and a population about the same as the city of Toronto, is burdened with a lieutenant governor, a legislative council, a legislative assembly, county and municipal councils, which more than eats up the subsidy to which the province is entitled under confederation. The only interest the people have to the other provinces is the danger that in a short time these provinces, finding themselves unable to live within their income, will be imitating the example of Quebec, and make a raid on the Dominion treasury for an increased subsidy. This the west will not allow and friction will be the result. Confederation was the result of a deadlock in the old Canadian legislature, and maritime union may be produced in a somewhat similar manner.

A NEW CANAL.

A report comes from Ottawa, that the Dominion Government have decided to construct a canal on the north shore of the St. Lawrence river, about twenty miles above Montreal, in order to avoid the Cascade Rapids. Its estimated cost will be $1,750,000 and tenders will be invited at an early date. With the completion of the Canal du St. Lawrence and the Canadian Canal at the Saguenay, will possess an independent and unbroken waterway from the head of Lake Superior to the seaboard, and it will certainly attract an increasing volume of the grain from the Northwestern States.

The construction of the canal system will be of incalculable benefit to Manitoba from the Northwest, in lowering the freight rates to Liverpool and benefitting the farmers in the increased price which shippers could pay for grain. No doubt the scheme will be opposed by the wire pulling politicians and press of Eastern Canada, and the government will be condemned for its lavish expenditure, but the scheme should meet with the hearty approval of every farmer west of the St. Lawrence. The excessive freight rates is what is ruining the Northwest today, and causing the best wheat in the world to be sold for 62 cents per bushel. The freight on wheat to Montreal is 32 cents per bushel; coast freight 25 cents; cost of handling, say, 8 cents.
This makes a total cost of 65 cents without allowing any profit to shippers.
If as is estimated by an all water route from Fort William, Northwest wheat can be placed on the Liverpool market for 45 cents per bushel, it means a gain to every wheat producer in the country of 20 cents per bushel.

Take the export crop of Manitoba and the Northwest this year at 25,000, 000 bushels this increased price would mean five millions of dollars to the country—more than the entire cost of the canal. The benefits of the canal are apparent from the above, and Mr. Abbott's scheme is just a continuation of the progressive policy of the late premier, to develop the internal resources of the Dominion and to extend its trade relations with Great Britain.

The Hudson Bay railway seems from present appearance to be yet a considerable distance in the future, and in any case an alternative waterway to the Old Country markets would be of advantage. We hope the government will push to completion, this great public work at as early a date as possible.

NOTES BY THE WAY.

The Pilgrims' Return.

The growth of a city is a wonderful revelation to him who thinks. The age of city building is already here, and there are significant movements and questions in connection with it which must not be overlooked. These will compel us to study, and if we refuse to recognize them we must suffer the consequences. Bunyan's dream of "The Journey of the Pilgrims" comes vividly to our minds whenever, after an absence of a few months we find ourselves again within the principal streets of a city. It is a story of progress from destruction to harmony and beauty and strength. When however we turn away from the fine buildings and the tokens of material prosperity which we seem to understand, and begin to study the changes which have taken place in its social organization in the ecclesiastical kingdom, we begin to rub our eyes as if we had awakened from a Rip Van Winkle sleep.

We entered the city of Toronto and no sooner had we turned our eyes upon familiar places, than we wished for the vision and descriptive power of a Teufelsdröckh, that we might be able to depict the scenes of every day life, as we saw them, freed from the trammelling power of custom. Before we reached the Union Station everybody jumped to his feet as if struck by an electric machine, and got ready for exit, anxious that he should be first. As soon as we reached the street, we started for our destination, and almost before we had time to think, we were travelling at a quick pace, as if going to catch the train, or eager to get ahead of someone. Not until sitting alone in the evening had we time to think. It was bustling, bustling, nothing but excitement, and commercial intoxication, looking in a store window, glancing at a book stall, meeting with a friend, gazing into emporiums, speaking through a telephone and riding on a street car.
When the day was over, what had been done! nothing! nothing! A day of intellectual intoxication. The same spirit was seen in the development of this city. Here was a city in course of erection, and it is an important branch of sociological study to examine the principles of city building, for we live in the era of great cities.
In this modern city, you cannot feel that the people are living an excited life. They swear by Toronto as the greatest city on earth, and the people, including themselves, as the sublime type of man. Every upper most in the minds of the citizens is the growth of their commerce, the beauty of their mansions and churches and the wealth and power of their colleges.
In this city can be studied the movements of population, the city building movement, the spirit of the age as revealed in the buildings, and in educational and religious institutions. Two years ago we visited Toronto and various places in Ontario and we found the old time missionary meeting gone. Like all the institutions of ancient days, it is doomed, and new methods must be employed to win the sympathies and gain the dollars of the pious few. Again we return to the same city to find the lectures symposium at an end, nothing but degeneracy. The finest lectures can now be heard for nothing. A silver collection is now all that is demanded as you enter the chapel or christian synagogue to hear the most brilliant lecturers of the day.

In the city almost every other house is occupied by a doctor, and the houses between them are empty. This is peculiar sight, and in this age of medical discovery and progress, it is a strange sight. Amid the gorgeous stores and palaces we saw an old man, hardly able to walk, rush between two vehicles and seize upon a piece of dirty, wet paper, which he thrust into a bag.
He was gathering paper for a living.
What is our world coming to, when mortals like ourselves, upon the brink of the grave must resort to such methods, this, in order to keep soul and body together.

Turning away from the miserable home we gazed in astonishment upon the fine churches, burdened with beauty and debt. Shrines of Wesley!
Let us enter! The churches are lighted every night. There must be a series of evangelistic services going on! but no! The time for saving souls has not yet come. It is too early in the season. They must be holding meetings to get funds to help our missions in the Northwest. No! There is no time for that kind of work. City churches need money, and beauty is expensive, so there must be methods of raising funds to defray the current expenses. Forgive us for Calvinist cynicism.
We would not be followers of Ruskin and Carlyle, always speaking of a condemnatory tone, but when there are barriers on the way, we to that man who holds his tongue. In our religious movement a kind of ozone seems to have been laid of the people, a religious disaffection destroying their home life and religious meditation.
There are meetings in the church parlors every evening and sometimes in the afternoons, besides five or six amusement per month, and special sermons or collections every Sunday.
At this season of the year, it may be that the dock gates are opened, and we are deluged with entertainments.
Flashing advertisements stand in front of the churches to draw the people into them, but the people may see them as they see them, and the immorality is almost the same. We have reached the end of our religious mission, and in our missionary work, of making preparation for Indians who will never see Christ.

The Methodist movement differs little from the foregoing from the other churches. All of which seem to vie with each other in drawing the crowd by the means of a popular "name" name by custom a sermon, having a large amount of entertaining information with little gospel. This is not true of all, for there are many conspicuous examples of christian dignity and earnestness, but the trend is toward entertainment. There are two important factors in the Methodist movement of today, the lessening of the power of the clergy by the influence of the laity, and the destruction of connectionalism through the invitation system. The Methodist church is the church for the democracy and as we are nearing the reign of the common people, the sign of the times, predict the overthrow of the sacerdotal form of church government, and the ultimate rule of the laity. This however is but a movement of today, and out of it, posterity will receive blessedness and truth. The laity is now ruling in the church, the clergy having the standard but the substance is gone. The other factor is the growth of individualism, and the destruction of the church idea. Protestantism has never been an united church, not as a church thing, but in a concrete form, and this also has been the dream of Methodist theologians, philosophers and saints.
There has been kept before our minds the idea of connectionalism, and thus we have urged unity in our religious papers, our grand religious organs, our missionary and educational institutions.
The stationing committee is the victima of the connectional idea, but what Carlyle has come, and in the Methodist fold he has preached the doctrine of individualism. The invitation system is the first step in the Calvinist philosophy, which must overthrow the connectional idea. The two ideas are antagonistic and cannot exist together.

We were ushered into a new phase of life, when we reached Montreal.
Here is a city of religious homes, chapels and hospitals. This is the city of Roman Catholicism, and we saw many things of interest, worthy of imitation, and where shall we find perfection, we saw something to blame.
There was poverty and immorality and all the religious wealth, saint-liness and piety were going on. This was as it should be, no separation between the so-called sacred and secular kinds of labor. As in every city there are low dens and high dens. Piety, religiosity and iniquity abound.

We spent an hour with the students of the Wesleyan Theological College, giving them an address on the "Gospel of the American People." The college building is a new, fine structure, and large but yet commodious, close proximity to the McGill College, and the Presbyterian and Congregational Colleges. We took tea with the old man sage, Dr. Douglass, who had lots of questions to ask and much was counsel to give. Montreal, Methodism is so far eastward that we hear little of it, and yet here are fifteen Methodist churches, and one of them, St. James' Church, one of the finest if not the finest on the continent. In the evening along with Dr. T. G. Williams, Dr. Hunter and others we addressed a meeting in the lecture room of this grand church, and we were somewhat taken aback when the chairman, Dr. Antill introduced us as "Robin Baillie." Antill, a Canadian, has gone, and now the host awaits as they we may cross the sea.

JOHN McLELLAN.

DELORAIN, Dec. 5.—Mrs. John Piddie was found frozen to death yesterday. Her husband brought a load of "skat" to market. The skat, and she, her two sisters and her brother went to Deloraine, a neighbor who lived about a mile distant. They left Deloraine about 5 o'clock to drive home. They were found yesterday morning near the trail, about 400 yards from Maynard's house, which was on the way home. By her husband who had gone to bring them home.
The children who are between seven and ten years old, had their hands and feet badly frozen. Piddie lived eight miles southwest of Deloraine.

The best Christmas present you can send to your friends in the east is a copy of the Times for one year. Try it and you will receive more thanks than for anything else you can send them.

The public man who gets angry at what the newspapers say about him, should get down on his knees three times a day and give thanks for what they know about him, and don't publish.

Rev. Mr. Loach of the Pasqua and Canon Mission, preached in the Methodist Church, Regina, last Sunday evening. The Regina Leader says that Mr. Loach is a very promising young man, possessing all the necessary qualifications of a pulpit orator.

Mr. N. F. Davin, M. P. for Western Assiniboia, addressed his Regina constituents in the town hall on Saturday afternoon last, and reviewed his course in parliament during the last session. At the close a motion of confidence was proposed by Mr. J. A. McCaul, seconded by Mr. Holden, and carried unanimously.

Parties requiring letter heads, note heads, bill heads, statements, wedding cards, invitation cards, colored printing, doggers etc., will advance their own interest by ordering at the Times office. We can turn out as good job work as can be procured west of Lake Superior at reasonable prices. Our work is our best testimonial.

The members of Moose Jaw Lodge No. 26 A. F. & A. M., G. R. M. met last Tuesday evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

W. M. Bro. James N. McDonald, Senior Warden Bro. Hamilton Lang, Junior Warden Bro. John Frank, Secretary Bro. R. H. Lowe, Treasurer R. W. Bro. T. W. Robinson, Chaplain Bro. A. R. Turnbull.

Among the great attractions of this holiday season will be Bole's drug store. His stock of Christmas presents, spread out last week and advertised in this issue of the Times is the largest and best that has ever been displayed in our town and cannot be excelled outside of the largest cities. He has everything from a tin horn to a rail way train. Any one who fails to visit this store will miss one of the best sights of the season. The windows are full of toys, the show cases full of the finest plush and silver goods, the counters covered a foot deep with Christmas cards, while strung on lines through the store are dolls of every age and size with rosy cheeks and glittering eyes to gladden the hearts of the little girls. Just call around and anything that you about the stock is not worth knowing.

The Congregational Church Company appeared in Campbell's Hall on Tuesday last, under the auspices of the Independent Order of Foresters. Great things were expected of them by the audience and they more than fulfilled these expectations. They played on all sorts of instruments, and whatever they touched gave forth sweet sounds. The Congregates are a very talented family. John is a musical wonder, William is almost as good a musician as his brother and the little favorite, Ada pleased the audience as much as any of them. Miss Marietta La Dell, the elocutionist of the company has a well trained voice, a fine figure, graceful gestures, in fact all the qualifications necessary for a successful dramatic reciter. Mr. John Driscoll the comedian is one of the best that has ever visited the Northwest, and time and again he was encored. The audience was so well pleased with the performance, and encored so frequently that the encore would of themselves have been quite a concert.

About $125 was realized from the concert, which was divided between the Forester's lodge here and the concert company. The I. O. F. are to be congratulated on the success of the entertainment and to be thanked for giving the people of Moose Jaw an opportunity of hearing these artists.

A MOUNTAIN OF TRUTHS DE-SPISED BY SOME PEOPLE!

Some Will Not Examine Truth Because They Fear It!

Convincing Canadian Testimony!

There are truths which some men despise because they have not examined them, and which they will not examine because they dislike them. Important and mighty truths are continually being accumulated, all going to make up the truth, that full and ample proofs can be shown to them of the following cases:-

Mr. B. Hutchins, a well-known Real Estate and Financial Agent, of Montreal, P. Q., suffered for fifty years from neuralgia and rheumatism; he was cured by Pain's Celery Compound.

Mr. F. G. Fothergill, of Middleton, N. S., whose life was a long continued agony from rheumatism, neuralgia and rheumatism, found a perfect cure in Pain's Celery Compound.

Captain Douglas, proprietor of the Leland House, Winnipeg, Man., used Pain's Celery Compound for dyspepsia, indigestion and headache. He is now enjoying perfect health, and says Celery Compound beats all the other remedies for the purpose of restoring health.

Mr. R. Allen, of Orangeville, Ont., was a martyr to rheumatism and sleeplessness; he found a new lease of life after using Pain's Celery Compound.

Mr. J. T. Dillon, chairman Board of City Assessors, Montreal, P. Q., was for many years a sufferer from indigestion, flatulency and rheumatism. He has become a new man through the use of Pain's Celery Compound and now possesses a robust constitution.

Mr. Joseph Mansel, of West Brom, P. Q., was given up by the doctors as an incurable from dropsy, but was expected to die, but Providence directed his friends to try the effects of Pain's Celery Compound on the sufferer, with the result that he is now in good health.

Mr. E. V. Roberts, of St. Martins, N. S., was a terrible sufferer from neuralgia; he was cured in a short time by Pain's Celery Compound.

Mr. Chas. I. Robertson, Electrical Expert and Mechanical Superintendent of the Royal Electric Works, Montreal, P. Q., was a terrible sufferer owing to nervousness, sleeplessness and overwork of body and brain. He is now enjoying perfect health and strength, owing to the grand effects of Pain's Celery Compound.

Mrs. J. Howard, of Grenville, P. Q., was a new existence-a new life after using Pain's Celery Compound for a short time.

It does a work in the home that no other medicine can accomplish, and it always cures. It is the only preparation in existence that the best physicians are now prescribing and recommending to their patients.

Toronto, Dec. 4.-Local grain men are much exercised over the action of the Grand Trunk lending 2,000 cars to the Chicago and Grand Trunk to be used for the moving of grain in Chicago. They say there is already a shortage of cars here though no serious blockade has occurred yet. Staff ordered 30 days ago is not moved yet.
